Truth in Information Responsibility of Applicant and Applicant Family

Only if the student and the student's family openly discuss the applicant's past can we objectively determine whether St. John's Northwestern Academies and the student are properly matched, since some students may not succeed in this type of environment. We expect each family to give us a complete and truthful history of a child's successes and failures, past behavior, health, and academic information as requested on the application and during the matriculation process. Failure to do so may result in an inadequate assessment of the student's ability to succeed at the Academy.
